liquidchair™ Keith Scott

THE INSPIRATION OF BEACHCOMBER

Using 20th century technology and materials, Keith Scott gave form to the 21st century Liquidchair. First invented in the late 1970's the Beachcomber Liquidchair was inspired by the endless creative possibilities of the human form. Keith admired many of this century's leading chair designers, who were inspirational to the Liquidchair's comfort. Beachcomber has always been preoccupied with structural simplicity, as dictated by ergonomics, for the many ways our seats conform to the human body for the ultimate in comfort. You can see for yourself how Beachcomber's molded shape reflect the shapely curves of the human body.

Beachcomber has 15 different hot tub models that are more than just a place to sit in hot water. They are simple, well designed, comfortable, intriguing places to visit and relax in year-round.

BEACHCOMBER MODEL 740

Shown here in Alabaster Acrylic, with optional features.

YEAR-ROUND LOUNGING COMFORT

The 740 has a big lounging bed that lets you stretch out to truly experience the restorative benefits of a Beachcomber. A digital management system activates lighting, changes water temperature and the massage jet pressure. Our “holiday tender” will care for your hot tub when you’re away on an extended vacation.
